Readability

Flesch Reading Ease		64.5 · Standard
WHAT IT MEASURES	How easy your prose is to read, on a 0–100 scale where higher is easier.
HOW IT MEASURES	$206.835 - 1.015 \times (\text{words per sentence}) - 84.6 \times (\text{syllables per word})$.
HOW TO INTERPRET	90+ is very easy; 60–70 is mainstream fiction; below 50 reads as difficult. Most commercial novels sit 60–80.
LEARN MORE	Wikipedia — Flesch–Kincaid
Grade Level (FK)		8.7
WHAT IT MEASURES	The US school grade a reader needs to follow the prose (Flesch–Kincaid).
HOW IT MEASURES	$0.39 \times (\text{words per sentence}) + 11.8 \times (\text{syllables per word}) - 15.59$.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Most commercial and YA fiction lands at grade 5–8; literary fiction often 7–10. Lower is more accessible, not better.
LEARN MORE	Wikipedia — Flesch–Kincaid
Grade Level (ARI)		8.2
WHAT IT MEASURES	A grade estimate built from characters per word and words per sentence (ARI).
HOW IT MEASURES	$4.71 \times (\text{characters per word}) + 0.5 \times (\text{words per sentence}) - 21.43$.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Read it alongside the other grades; a wide spread between them signals an uneven register worth a look.
LEARN MORE	Wikipedia — Automated Readability Index
Grade Level (CLI)		8.4
WHAT IT MEASURES	A character-based grade level that ignores syllables (Coleman–Liau).
HOW IT MEASURES	$0.0588 \times (\text{letters per 100 words}) - 0.296 \times (\text{sentences per 100 words}) - 15.8$.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Useful as a cross-check on the syllable-based scores; large disagreement points to unusual word or sentence shapes.
LEARN MORE	Wikipedia — Coleman–Liau Index
Grade Level (Fog)		12.1
WHAT IT MEASURES	Years of formal education needed, weighting long words heavily (Gunning Fog).
HOW IT MEASURES	$0.4 \times (\text{words per sentence} + 100 \times \text{polysyllabic-word ratio})$.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Fiction usually reads 6–10. A high Fog with a normal FK means long words, not long sentences, are the load.
LEARN MORE	Wikipedia — Gunning Fog Index
Grade Level (SMOG)		11.6
WHAT IT MEASURES	A grade estimate driven by the density of polysyllabic words (SMOG).
HOW IT MEASURES	$3.1291 + 1.043 \times \sqrt{(\text{polysyllables} \times 30 / \text{sentences})}$.
HOW TO INTERPRET	SMOG is stable on longer texts and tends to run a little higher than FK. Treat the cluster of grades as a range.
LEARN MORE	Wikipedia — SMOG
Readability Volatility		±7.2
WHAT IT MEASURES	How consistent your reading ease is from scene to scene.
HOW IT MEASURES	Standard deviation of each scene's Flesch Reading Ease (scenes of 50+ words).
HOW TO INTERPRET	Under ±10 is steady; ±20+ means some scenes read much harder or easier than others — intentional for tense beats, a red flag if not.

30+ Word Sentences16.4%

WHAT IT MEASURES	The share of sentences longer than 30 words.
HOW IT MEASURES	$\text{Sentences over 30 words} \div \text{total sentences} \times 100.$
HOW TO INTERPRET	A few percent is normal. A high share can tire readers and often hides sentences that want splitting.

WHAT IT MEASURES	Whether a sentence's length predicts the next one's.
HOW IT MEASURES	Lag-1 autocorrelation of sentence lengths (−1 to +1).
HOW TO INTERPRET	Near 0 is ideal — lengths vary freely. High positive means long runs of similar-length sentences (a droning cadence).

Paragraph Length SD88.7 words

WHAT IT MEASURES	How much your paragraph lengths vary.
HOW IT MEASURES	Standard deviation of per-paragraph word counts.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Some spread is healthy — mixing short beats with fuller passages. Very low SD makes the page look uniform and heavy.

Paragraph Cadence0.05

WHAT IT MEASURES	Whether a paragraph's size predicts the next one's — the page's cadence.
HOW IT MEASURES	Lag-1 autocorrelation of paragraph lengths (−1 to +1).
HOW TO INTERPRET	Under 0.10 reads as varied; 0.40+ means long stretches of same-size paragraphs (blocky, monotone page rhythm).

Dialogue Ratio46.7%

WHAT IT MEASURES	The share of your words that are spoken inside quotation marks.
HOW IT MEASURES	$\text{Words within quotes} \div \text{total words} \times 100.$
HOW TO INTERPRET	Dialogue-heavy books (40%+) read fast; description-led literary work often sits 15–25%. Neither is better — genre decides.

Declarative

81.9%

WHAT IT MEASURES	The share of your sentences that are plain statements — the narrative backbone.
HOW IT MEASURES	Sentences ending in a period (no ? or !) that carry a finite verb ÷ total sentences × 100.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Most prose runs 70–90% declarative. Below ~65% means questions, exclamations, or fragments are crowding out the statements; 95%+ can read flat and unvaried.

Questions

3.1%

WHAT IT MEASURES	The share of sentences that ask something.
HOW IT MEASURES	Sentences ending in a question mark ÷ total sentences × 100.
HOW TO INTERPRET	A few percent is normal. 8%+ is interrogative-heavy — natural in introspective or mystery voices, wearing in excess. Near 0% can feel like no one in the book ever wonders.

Exclamations

4.8%

WHAT IT MEASURES	The share of sentences that end on an exclamation mark.
HOW IT MEASURES	Sentences ending in ! ÷ total sentences × 100.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Under 2% is restrained — modern prose keeps exclamations rare so they still land. 5%+ reads breathless; most can become a strong verb or a beat of action instead.

WHAT IT MEASURES	Three- and four-word phrases you repeat three or more times.
HOW IT MEASURES	All 3- and 4-grams containing a content word, kept when they recur 3+ times.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Some repetition is intentional (refrains, character tics); unintentional echoes are the classic crutch-phrase tell.

✔ Consistency

Tense Consistency98.4%

- WHAT IT MEASURESHow steadily your scenes hold a single grammatical tense.
- HOW IT MEASURESShare of scenes whose dominant tense matches the book's dominant tense (past vs present), over scenes with enough tense signals to judge.
- HOW TO INTERPRET95%+ is solid; 85–95% is worth a scan; under 85% means several scenes slip between past and present — usually an accidental mid-draft drift. The scenes against the grain are listed below.

SCENES AGAINST THE DOMINANT TENSE

CHAPTER → SCENE	READS	BOOK IS

POV Consistency98.4%

- WHAT IT MEASURESHow consistently your scenes stay in one grammatical person.
- HOW IT MEASURESShare of scenes whose dominant person (first / second / third) matches the book's dominant POV, over scenes with enough pronoun signals to judge.
- HOW TO INTERPRET95%+ is steady; under 85% means some scenes shift person (a first-person book with third-person scenes, say). Deliberate in multi-POV structures; a red flag when unintended. Deviating scenes are listed below.

Story Shape

- WHAT IT MEASURESHow your book's words split across its three acts — the large-scale shape of the story.
- HOW IT MEASURESChapters are divided into three equal groups by position; each group's words are summed and shown as a percentage of the whole book.
- HOW TO INTERPRETClassic three-act structure runs roughly 25% / 50% / 25%. A middle well over half is the 'saggy middle' — the most common structural problem; a thin final act can make the ending feel rushed.

Emotional Arc

Oedipus

- WHAT IT MEASURESThe emotional tone of your prose over the book — a story-shape line that rises when the writing turns positive and falls when it turns dark.
- HOW IT MEASURESEach scene's words are matched against a valence lexicon (scored -3 to +3) and averaged, then centered on this book's own baseline so 0 means 'typical for this book'. The shape is read from the rises and falls.
- HOW TO INTERPRETMost stories follow one of six basic shapes (Reagan/Vonnegut): Rags to Riches, Tragedy, Man in a Hole, Icarus, Cinderella, Oedipus. A flat line can mean emotionally muted prose. It reads word choice only — no irony or negation.

Median Chapter Length

- WHAT IT MEASURESChapter-length consistency — each chapter against the median, plus its reading time.
- HOW IT MEASURESThe median chapter length sets a ±25% band; chapters outside it are flagged. Reading time divides each chapter's words by 250 — average adult fiction reading speed.
- HOW TO INTERPRETUneven lengths are not wrong, but a chapter far shorter or longer than its neighbours jars the reader's rhythm. Consistent lengths feed the 'just one more chapter' pull.

Cliffhanger Score

9 · Soft

WHAT IT MEASURES	How 'hooky' each chapter's final line is, plus an overall average across scored chapters.
HOW IT MEASURES	The last written scene's closing sentence earns points for an open question, unresolved dialogue, an ellipsis trail-off, an exclamation, and short-punchy brevity; scores average to a 0–100 rating.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Strong hooks pull readers on; a run of soft endings mid-book is where readers put a book down. Not every chapter needs a cliffhanger — this scores the closing line alone, so read flagged chapters in context.

WHAT IT MEASURES	Scene-level pacing — average scene length, with every written scene's word count in reading order.
HOW IT MEASURES	Scenes are plotted in narrative sequence (chapter order, then scene order); the average is words ÷ written scenes.
HOW TO INTERPRET	Watch for drift: scenes that steadily bloat as the book goes on, or a dip near the end that signals a rushed finish. Varied scene lengths with no runaway climb read as healthy rhythm.

👁 AI Signals

Probabilistic only. These signals reflect statistical patterns from AI-detection research — no method is definitive, and formal or heavily-edited human writing regularly scores AI-like. Use as self-reflection, not proof of authorship. Higher scores (0–10) mean more AI-like; accuracy improves past ~1,000 words.

WHAT IT MEASURES

HOW IT MEASURES

HOW TO INTERPRET

A single 0–10 estimate of how AI-like your prose reads, averaged across six independent signals.

The mean of the six signal scores below, each 0–10 where higher = more AI-like.

Under 2 reads strongly human; 2–4 likely human; 4–6 mixed; 6–8 AI-adjacent; 8+ likely AI. Formal, technical, or heavily-edited human writing regularly scores high — treat as self-reflection, never proof of authorship.
